

Gerard Murray meets Prime Minister Scott Morrison

Just a few days after the appointment of Scott Morrison as the 30th Prime Minister of Australia Gerard Murray a Director of Pacific Urethanes, was invited to attend a meeting with him together with six representatives of other local business.

The meeting was held at the electoral office of Chris Crewther the federal member for Dunkley to discuss issues affecting our businesses.

During the meeting serious concerns were raised relating to the dramatic increase in the cost of energy and the impact on competitiveness.

The Prime Minister highlighted the steps that have been taken and will be taken to reduce electricity prices in the short and longer term. The focus would be on reducing prices using every available method of electricity generation including gas, coal and hydro generation.

Local infrastructure and planning issues were also discussed.
