

Patrick Grant celebrates 5 years with Pacific Urethanes

Pacific Urethanes is very pleased to report that Patrick Grant, one of our Development Chemists, has been with us for five years. Patrick joined Pacific Urethanes through our graduate program and we encouraged his passion and enthusiasm for chemistry. He has formulated countless solutions for our customers and is dedicated to performing research and development to ensure that Pacific Urethanes remains at the forefront of innovation.

I would like to thank Pacific Urethanes for the support and guidance they have provided me during my years with the company. I'm very fortunate to work with such a professional team and I look forward to many more years here.

Patrick Grant
Development Chemist

Pacific Urethanes graduate program is designed to teach graduates the essential skills that are required to excel in a workplace. The program provides a high level of support, with dedicated training and development plans which shape them into future leaders of the industry.

Patrick demonstrates the success of the graduate program. He is already mentoring Lucas Peterson, our latest Graduate Development Chemist. Lucas has only been a member of our team for a short time but has already proven himself to be a valuable asset.

The Technical Director of Pacific Urethanes, Owen Stam, had this to say:

'Our graduate program ensures that we maintain the depth of knowledge and application experience that our customers see as our true value in our partnerships. Patrick is already an industry leader in providing new polyurethane solutions for our customers and is an integral part of our team at Pacific Urethanes.'

In the five years that Patrick has been with us, he has consistently demonstrated that he is an essential part of our organisation. We look forward to many more years with you Patrick.
